

Practicum Three Survey

Thank you for letting me teach you these past five weeks. It is crazy how fast time has flown. However, before I go I would like to ask you a few questions about my five weeks here! Please feel free to answer honestly as this is how I learn how to be better.

1. What was an activity or lesson that you liked? Why did you like it?

I liked how we did the review for the Pythagorean theorem with the "Scoot". I thought that it was a fun idea and it helped me refresh through the unit before the test. I also enjoyed doing the Seven Deadly Sins drama project with my friends. I usually don't like drama but this was actually really fun. I liked it because we got to explore an emotion and what it represents, then put it into a project.

2. What was an activity or lesson that you did not like? How can I make it better for future students?

I didn't like doing the history monologue. I feel like we should've gotten more time to work on it. I think that you could've showed us an example before we had to do it.

3. Any other comments or thoughts?

I will miss you! I hope you'll have a good Christmas break!

Practicum Three Survey

Thank you for letting me teach you these past five weeks. It is crazy how fast time has flown. However, before I go I would like to ask you a few questions about my five weeks here! Please feel free to answer honestly as this is how I learn how to be better.

1. What was an activity or lesson that you liked? Why did you like it?

activitys that I liked was the Drama project that you did with us and the lesson of pythagorean theorem Math lesson/Games were fun

2. What was an activity or lesson that you did not like? How can I make it better for future students?

I think that the history monologue should of had a little bit more time or at lest time to present them in front of you and the class.

3. Any other comments or thoughts?

Thankyou for teaching us a lot of information you will be a great teacher one day

Practicum Three Survey

Thank you for letting me teach you these past five weeks. It is crazy how fast time has flown. However, before I go I would like to ask you a few questions about my five weeks here! Please feel free to answer honestly as this is how I learn how to be better.

1. What was an activity or lesson that you liked? Why did you like it?

a lesson I liked was when we first started drama because it was really fun and got us to work together and get out of our comfort zone.

2. What was an activity or lesson that you did not like? How can I make it better for future students?

None I loved all of them.

3. Any other comments or thoughts?

I want to say thank you and good luck to where ever your going next. you bring fun and joy anywhere. Have a happy holidays.

Fri, Nov 29, 2019

reflection

1. I liked the Alphabet game because when it got to your turn you needed to think quickly about what you have to say, and some of the things they said were funny.

2. Putting myself out there. I am a very shy person so when I was on the spotlight to do something it was hard because I know people are watching me and it feels weird.

3. I am feeling happy, because drama was fun.

4. I feel I did a bit bad because when I had to do something in front of the class and I was nervous which makes me do worse than I can.

Reflection

1

Nov 29

1. I liked when we played a challenging game that helped everyone get used to drama with movements. I liked to try to step outside my comfort zone a little.
2. I didn't like acting because I didn't know how to act on emotion like being sad or other situations. I didn't like that when we had to sculpt we couldn't find any good situations or poses.
3. I am feeling happy and good because I had fun and I learned a bit and improved my drama abilities.
4. I feel like I did good today but, I did not act very well. I was an active listener and did not talk when others were talking.