(B) Associate Teacher Comments:

Strengths	Areas of Improvement
Madeline arrived each day of her placement, with organized and thorough plans, always mindful of any student modifications or accommodations. She readily sought advice of curriculum expectations and assessment strategies when necessary. Madeline was conscientious about making sure that each student felt comfortable and accepted in her lessons, and adjusted accordingly if needed. She developed a professional and respectable relationships with her students and the staff, lending a hand with responsibility throughout her stay (e.g. managing recess door monitors). From my direct observations, Madeline would be an asset to any educational setting in the future.	Madeline should continue to refer to ministry curriculum documents, ensuring that most expectations are covered consistently when she achieves a full-time position. From my experience, attending various workshops in Math and Literacy might also help keep her up to date on successful teaching strategies as they come up. Madeline has observed the benefits of some communication tools I use in my teaching practice (Remind, Seesaw, Google Classroom), which she might also adapt in her future teaching experiences.
