

Digital Media & Modern Education

 "Drag-and-Drop" (Structured) media is very common among students  This ruins creativity and ultimately gives the end user less choices

Students using this form of media experience:

-  Decreased creativity and less room for individuality
-  Limited artistic options
-  Students no longer feel like creators

Forms of Popular Structured Media Platforms

-  Instagram
-  Facebook
-  Snapchat
-  Pinterest

Moving Past Drag-and-Drop Media Creation

-  By allowing students to be free to create, they are able to make mistakes that further their eventual learning
 -  When students give up this structured form of media creation, their artistic abilities are no longer constrained by these formats
 -  When students are free to be creative in their media educations, they may be open to more creativity in other aspects of their lives
