

Christmas Story
By: Mrs. H % class

One day, the Easter Bunny was jealous of Christmas because kids got more excited at Christmas than Easter. At the North Pole, Santa was preparing the toys for Christmas with Rudolph, while Mrs. H the evil elf was spying on them. While Santa was distracted, Mrs. H snuck into the factory as quiet as a mouse and stole the presents. Right before she grabbed the presents, she got an evil phone call from the Easter Bunny. The Easter Bunny said, "Is the plan activated?". Mrs. H whispered quietly, "Yes, it's working perfectly, boss." Mrs. H snuck out of the factory as sly as a fox. Unknown to Mrs. Hage, Santa overheard the entire conversation. He decided to keep quiet and see what they are up to.

Meanwhile in a little house in the village, a child named Billy could not sleep a wink because he was as excited for Christmas as a puppy is to get a treat. In fact, he was so excited, he decided to leave the house and walk to the North Pole. As Billy was walking around the North Pole, he passed by a dark, suspicious looking egg-shaped house and decided to look inside. Inside the egg-shaped house there was the Easter Bunny, an elf, and a bunch of pretty wrapped pink presents. The Easter Bunny and the elf slowly turned their head to the window and noticed Billy watching their every move. They quickly ran out the door and chased Billy all the way to Santa's factory.

Billy was running so fast, that he didn't even see Santa, and ran right into him. The Easter Bunny and Mrs. H saw this and ran straight out of the factory because they did not want Santa to know they were working together. "Ho, ho, hold your horses. What are you doing here?" asked Santa. "Santa! I looked into an egg-shaped house and saw a bunch of presents, along with an elf and a suspicious looking Bunny. I think those presents belong to you!" said Billy. "Thank you for telling me, Billy. I figured out their plan to steal the presents and I need your help to save Christmas." explained Santa.

Billy guided Santa to the suspicious looking egg house, and they brought along Rudolf. Billy looked inside the house, and noticed that the Easter Bunny and Mrs. H were not there. Billy hopped on Rudolf and slowly opened the front door. Rudolf flew to the stolen presents and Billy grabbed as many as he could and flew them back to the factory as quick as a rabbit. Santa was also helping them grab the presents. When there was one present left, Billy and Rudolf were reaching for it, when all of a sudden, the Easter Bunny and Mrs. H walked into the house and caught them! "What are you doing here!? How did you get into my house?!" yelled the Easter Bunny. The Easter Bunny started chasing Billy and Rudolf. Billy and Rudolf started flying around the house, when they ran into a wall and the wall fell down! Billy and Rudolf were able to escape. "Noooo!" screamed the Easter Bunny.

After Billy and Rudolf returned to Santa's workshop, Santa sent 2 security guard elves to pick up the Easter Bunny and Mrs. H. The security guards brought them into the workshop, and sat them down in front of Billy and Santa. "Mrs. H and Easter Bunny! Why would you steal the presents for all the wonderful children of the world?" asked Santa. "Well, no kids like Easter as much as Christmas. I thought if I stole the presents, everyone would hate Christmas and find a new favourite holiday! You ruined my plan, old man! I will get revenge!" yelled the Easter Bunny. The Easter Bunny escaped from the guards and ran away. Santa turned his attention to Mrs. H. Mrs. H said, "I feel like you never saw me working hard Santa. At least the Easter Bunny noticed me!" "I love all my elves Mrs. H, I am sorry you feel that way. How about you join me on the sleigh ride tonight?" "Oh my! Yes, of course!" said Mrs. H. "Billy, come along with us! You helped me save Christmas, and you can help me deliver the presents!" said Santa. The three new friends got onto Santa's sleigh and delivered presents to the world. "Merry Christmas!" they all shouted.
